PRESS RELEASE

Resisting Arrest, Search or Transportation

Tuesday July 1, 2014

On Saturday June 28, 2014 at 02:08am Officers were called to the 400 block of Woodford St in reference to a disturbance. When Officers arrived they made contact with a female who was identified as 28 year old Karina Montoya. Montoya's information was relayed to dispatch who later advised she had active arrest warrants from Cameron County Sheriff's Office. As Officers attempted to place her under arrest she began to resist and refuse to be transported. She kicked at the officers who were trying to place her into the police unit and attempted to exit the vehicle. Montoya was warned that if she continued to resist she would be sprayed with a chemical agent to control her continuous attempts to assault police officers. Montoya continued to yell profanity and attempt to kick at the Officers. She was sprayed with a chemical agent and began to comply. She was transported to the station where she was decontaminated and placed in a jail cell. She was arraigned by Judge Benjamin Yudesis and bond was set at $5,000 dollars for Resisting Arrest, Search or Transportation. She was transported to Cameron County Detention Center for two arrest warrants for Assault Causing Bodily Injury.
